DETAILED ACTION

This Office action is a complete response to the preliminary amendment filed 18 July 2003. The allowed claims are claims 22-48, renumbered 1-27 respectively.

EXAMINER'S AMENDMENT

An examiner's amendment to the record appears below. Should the changes and/or additions be unacceptable to applicant, an amendment may be filed as provided by 37 CFR 1.312. To ensure consideration of such an amendment, it MUST be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee.

The application has been amended as follows: In the Specification on page 2, line 10, in the blank space after "now U.S. Patent No.", the number --6,623,811-- has been added.

Allowable Subject Matter

The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance: The applicants have claimed a fatty acid cellulose ester having a C₂-C₃ acyl group; a LC layer; and a support wherein the support has the relationship represented by formulas I and II. The invention is further combined with a value for the number of luminescent points of specified size as observed in cross Nicole state of zero. The closest prior art reference is to Arakawa which teaches a LCD having negative uniaxial anisotropic film used in conjunction with the LC and alignment layering and protective films. Although TAC is utilized, the teaching does not satisfy the specific requirements of formulas I and II of applicants claimed invention. Additional teachings of Nichikouji, Mishihata, Shuto and Iwata all teach similar anisotropic films and yet fail to satisfy the requirements of the formulas. Further, neither reference discloses the specified luminescent point values.

Examiner further wishes to note on the record that although Applicants' claim 39 (renumbered 18) provides for an LCD comprising an LC cell and the optically anisotropic film of Applicants own U.S. Patent No. 6,623,811 claim 6. Examiner has determined this to not be an obvious design modification and therefore this claim is patentable in its own right.

Conclusion

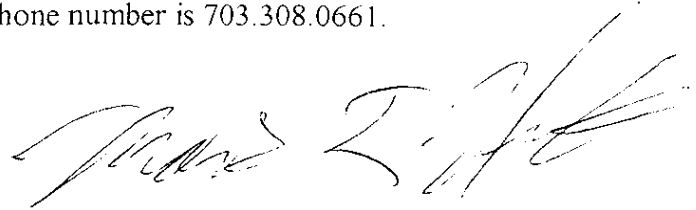

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
